Congratulations KDK on 50 years

On the weekend of June 9-11, 2017, Kodokan Yudanshakai celebrated its 50th anniversary in Tucson, Arizona. A contingent from Shoshin Ryu went to the celebration to show their support and be part of a historic event.

The history of Kodokan Yudanshakai began in 1964. At the behest of his brother Roy, Joseph Holck moved to Tucson to help teach jujitsu. In 1967 Shihan Joseph Holck began Kodokan Yudanshakai as a jujitsu organization. Over the next thirty years, Daishihan Holck along with Amy, his wife, and four sons and daughter, built an organization reached deeply into the heart of Tucson.

Daishihan Holck retired from active teaching in 1994 and his children took over the administration of KDK. On November 6, 2011, Daishihan Holck died from respiratory failure in Tucson. Today Kodokan Yudanshakai has schools in Tucson, Sierra Vista, Phoenix, and Long Beach. It is an organization that has taught thousands of students and helped to propagate the teaching of Professor Okazaki.

During the weekend, Professor Dave Parker and the members of KDK put on a very smooth event. Starting with clinics on Friday night, they did not let a whole lot of empty time fill the weekend. If people were not on the mats, they were in the hospitality suite. If they were not in the hospitality suite, they were at a banquet. It was a good time for all those in attendance.

Among the highlights of the weekend was the talent show during Saturday night's dessert party. It was quite a scene, the talent show started as a voluntary event then eventually became a mandatory event. Sadly there was no winner, but some of the KDK black belts have some real talent. One black belt sang the old Janis Joplin song "Mercedes Benz" and another pair showed off their break dancing skills.

Personally, I enjoyed watching the black belt promotion ceremony. They have been doing the same ceremony for the past forty or more years. The black belts sit on both sides of the mat, their name is called, they walk to the center. They walk forward to the dais where all the high ranking black belts sit, and receive their promotion. Then they walk backward to where they started before bowing off the mat and returning to their spot on the side. Afterward, they have a sake celebration, where the newly promoted student pours sake for their sensei.

Through the entire weekend, Professor Dave Parker and his group could not have been more thoughtful about what they were doing and how they were doing it. Kudos to Kodokan Yudanshakai and good luck. Maybe we'll all meet again at the 100th anniversary.

The History of Shoshin Ryu, Vol. I

The History of Shoshin Ryu is now available on Amazon.com and on the OutskirtsPress websites. It took nine months to write and was produced through countless interviews with Professors Mike Chubb, Bill Fischer, Len Riley, Jon Jacques, Kevin Dalrymple, Steve McMillan, Roger Medlen, and a host of others. For some it will be a trip down memory lane, for others it will be an essential part of understanding the roots of Shoshin Ryu.
